The San Juan Affair.

The Whig press have habitually manifested such alacrity in condemning the conduct of our government in its controversies with other Powers, that their denunciation of the Administration for the recent occurrence at San Juan will be taken by the public as a mere outburst of party spleen and unpatriotic impulse. From the papers submitted to Congress by the President in explanation of the affair, the impartial mind will deduce this double conclusion, first, that the Administration are not responsible for the bombardment of San Juan, and secondly, ing houses. Of this there is no evidence, and we that the act itself is not deserving of censure.
